MEET Catriona

Leadology Founder Catriona is a passionate and experienced leadership enthusiast, a mum, a wife, and a fitness devotee (not necessarily in that order). An accomplished entrepreneur, she has successfully led companies from start-up to success in the human resources, leadership and training fields. Tertiary qualified in Human Resources and Management, and an Australian Human Resources Institute Fellow, she is a trailblazer for gender equality and a powerful voice for female leadership. Catriona is paving the way for the next generation of aspiring leaders through sharing her deep-rooted fascination with human behaviours and motivations, and skills in negotiation, effective communication and self-leadership with her results-driven Leadology Mastery Programs. She is recognised for her achievements in advancing workplace gender equality not only through her LeadHER Women in Leadership program offerings, but with initiatives that support organisations in recognising diversity (gender in particular) as the glue that binds high achieving organisations.

Long before Covid necessitated the need for flexible and home-based work environments, Catriona adopted hybrid and family-friendly work practices to lead the charge for leadership and life to coexist. This principle is the driving force for Leadology.
